THE ENVIRONMENTAL STANDARD
FOR THE FUNERAL SECTOR

Trusted Supplier Environmental Policy

Woven Farewell Coffins

As a supplier within the bereavement sector, you have a crucial role to play in protecting the environment and supporting funeral directors in their endeavour to become more sustainable.

Adopting an environmental policy is an important first step for any business seeking to be more sustainable. For this reason, Greener Globe Funeral Awards requires suppliers in the bereavement sector to demonstrate they have an environmental policy or adopt our straightforward GGFA Suppliers Environmental Policy. This qualifies your business to receive our Trusted Supplier Bronze Award.

As part of our commitment to protecting the environment and preventing pollution, we pledge to advise our customers openly and honestly. Providing a range of products and/or services, supported by straightforward and transparent information, so our customer may decide on the environmental merit of each.

We understand the urgent need for change to protect the planet and recognise the importance of aligning our business with the UK's climate and biodiversity commitments. For us, this means continuous improvement in our environmental performance, alongside continual regulatory compliance. We will achieve best practice by working to objectives that minimise our environmental impact in the following areas:

Transport

- We will select our logistic and delivery options to ensure the minimum environmental impact from distribution and packaging and when selecting our own vehicles we will explore the use hybrid, electric and green fuels.

Reducing water wastage

- We will reduce our water usage wherever possible and in the longer term, endeavour to reduce it further in both any manufacturing processes and the day to day running of the business.

Use of sustainable energy

- We will seek to manage our electricity and gas supplies to ensure minimum consumption throughout our manufacturing, supply and associated processes.

Sustainable supplies and procurement

- We will do this based on specific criteria to identify trading partners who seek to meet the highest standards in areas including climate change, human rights, modern slavery, financial crime and health and safety.

The management of waste

- We will utilise the hierarchy of waste management so that materials are re-used or recycled wherever possible. We will encourage the reduction of waste and the use of single use plastics. We will ensure that any waste suitable for reuse or recycling is separated and all waste is disposed of appropriately.

This policy is reviewed on an annual basis and is available to all interested parties.
